The earliest documentation of fireworks dates back to 7th century China. They were invented more than 2000 years ago in China.

China is the largest manufacturer and exporter of fireworks in the world. 90% of all fireworks originate from here.

In 1240 the Arabs acquired knowledge of gunpowder. A Syrian named Hasan al-Rammah wrote of fireworks using terms that suggested he derived his knowledge from Chinese sources.

The first recorded fireworks in England were at the wedding of King Henry VII in 1486.

At first fireworks were only orange and white. In the Middle Ages new colors were achieved by adding different salts. The hardest color to create is blue.
